EXPLANATORY NOTES

THIS IS THE FIRST TIME that more than a smattering of the vital records in the custody of the North Yarmouth Town Clerk have appeared in print, although much has been published about the town in the past century.

North Yarmouth was settled in the seventeenth century, and so named to distinguish it from Yarmouth on Cape Cod, as Maine did not become a state separate from Massachusetts until many years later. But those earliest pioneers were driven out by Indians, and a fairly permanent settlement was not made until 1722. Ancient North Yarmouth was a seaport comprising the present towns of North Yarmouth, Freeport, Pownal, Cumberland, Yarmouth and Harpswell, and there were many Plymouth Colony families from the ports of Yarmouth and Plymouth, Massachusetts, among the early settlers.

The North Yarmouth town books have not been microfilmed and, because of their fragile condition, the old books may be used only by the town clerk. Since copies of but a small percentage of the records exist outside the town offices, we seized the opportunity to assist researchers and also to provide some measure of preservation of those irreplaceable records by publishing the alphabetized vital records which were compiled by Carle D. Henry early in this decade and are presently in the custody of the North Yarmouth Town Clerk.

Mr. Henry's compilation was made from typed copies of North Yarmouth town vital record books one, two and three. Where birth information was missing or illegible, Nellie Leighton was able to supply some facts from original Cumberland town records. Set off from North Yarmouth in the early 1820s, Cumberland at that time obtained, from the North Yarmouth vital record books, copies of records pertaining to Cumberland families. Additions from Cumberland records appear in square brackets in the births.

Some other additions and revisions have been made to Mr. Henry's work for this volume. Additions include marriage intentions from North Yarmouth vital record book three covering 1846 to 1850; marriages and intentions of blacks from North Yarmouth vital record book one; a cross index to intentions prepared by the Oregon Mayflower Society; Mrs. Leighton's collection of gravestone inscriptions covering many of the old stones in Ancient North Yarmouth; inscriptions from the Indian Fighters (or Old Settlers) Cemetery which were published in Old Times a century ago; and other more minor additions.

A search for families in the North Yarmouth area ought also to include the following sources: the alphabetical 58 page 1968 compilation of Yarmouth Baptist Cemetery inscriptions, by the Colonial Dames, available in Yarmouth's Merrill Memorial Library and Portland's Maine Historical Society; the compilation of inscriptions from all Freeport cemeteries, in Freeport's B. H. Bartol Library; Old Times of North Yarmouth Maine, a magazine published from 1877 to 1884, reprinted in one volume in 1977 by New Hampshire Publishing Co., but again out-of-print; Ancient North Yarmouth and Yarmouth Maine 1636-1936, to be reprinted in 1980 by New Hampshire Publishing Co., Somersworth NH; Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder, published from 1884 to 1898, available in reprint from Genealogical Publishing Co., Baltimore; and Charles E. Clark's The Eastern Frontier; The Settlement of Northern New England, 1610-1763, Knopf, 1970, out-of-print, readable information on early North Yarmouth and a lengthy bibliography.

OUR THANKS TO

Carle D. Henry, on whose compilation this volume is based.

Norman L. Smith, Town Clerk of North Yarmouth, for permission to photocopy Mr. Henry's typed records.

William E. Priest, Chairman of the North Yarmouth Board of Selectmen, for permission to publish the records.

Nellie Smith Leighton (Mrs. Edwin G.), first president of the North Yarmouth Historical Society, for comparing North Yarmouth births with those of Cumberland, for checking with the original North Yarmouth town books on items the editor questioned, for permitting us to publish inscriptions of those born before 1850, from her cemetery compilation, and for inestimable assistance in many other ways.

Ruth G. Matarazzo, Past Governor of the Oregon Society of Mayflower Descendants, and other members of that society, whose Bicentennial project of photocopying Mr. Henry's compilation for use of the Mayflower Society's Five Generations Project was the medium through which this book was prepared, and for cross indexing the marriage intentions.

Gov. Gen. and Mrs. E. Frederick Low of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, for acting as overnight hosts of Bob, Ruth Ann and Bill Sherman in 1977, when they photocopied the North Yarmouth vital records for the Oregon Mayflower Society.

Lura N. Sellew of the Rhode Island Mayflower Society, for title page artwork.

Robert M. Sherman and Ruth W. Sherman, for endless hours of proofreading and the latter for developing the new formats for the vital records and editing this volume.
